THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1866.

Supper at the Mill. BY JEAN INGELOW.

"When sparrows build and the leaves break forth, My old sorrow wakes and cries, For I know there is a dawn in the far, far North, And a scarlet sun doth rise;

And a scarlet sun doth rise; Like a scarlet fleec the snow-field spreads, And the ic. founts run free; And the bergs begin to bow their heads, And plunge and sail in the sea.

"Oh, my lost love, and my own, own love,
And my love that loved me se!
Is there never a chink in the world above,
Where they listen f. r words from bel.w?
Nay, I spoke once, and I grieved thee sore:
I remember all that I said;
And now thou wilt I car me no more—no more,
Till the sea gives up her dead.

"The the sea gives up her usas:

To the ice fields and the snow;
Thou wert sad, for thy love did not avail,
And the end I could not know.
How could I tell thes I should love thee to-day,
Whom that day I held not dear?
How could I know I should by e thee away,
When I did not love thee area?

"We sha'l walk no more through the sodden plain With the faded bents o'erspro.d; We shall stand no more by the seething main, While the dark wrack drives o'erhea': We shall part no m re in the wind and rain, Where thy last farewell was said; But perhaps I shall see and know thee again, When the see gives up her dead."

The Late Bishop Polk.

The Protestant Episcopal Council of the Dio cese of Louisians, at their recent session in New Orleans, took the following action in regard to their late Bishop. We copy from the Orescen of the 18th:

The President, as the Chairman of the Commit tee on the subject of the decease of the late Bishop Polk, presented a report on motion of the Rev. Dr. HEDGES. He said he presented the preamble and resolutions with all the love of a friend nd admirer of the late Bishop, and then proceed to read them as follows:

Whereas, on the 14th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1864, it pleased Almighty God, in his wise providence, to take out of this world the Right Rev. Leonidas Polk, D. D., Chief Pastor of the Church in Louisiana: The convention of this Diocese, assembled in St., Paul's Church, New Orleans, with entire submission to the will of God under this trying dispensation, desire to put on record their profound sense of the great loss which the Church has sustained in the removal of one who, during a long period of uninterrupted labors in the episcopal office (not only) had greatly endeared himself to the affections of the people whom he served (by the manifold attractions of his personal character and by the wisdom and vigor of his official administration), was the means, under God, of laying broad and deep the foundation of the Church in Leuislana, and of extending its influence through all parts of the ending its influence through all parts of th

State.
In 1841, on application made by the Diocese of Louisiana to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, for some fit person to take the spiritual oversight of the Church in this State, the Right Rev. L. Polk, then Missionary Bishop of the Southwest, was selected by that venerable body to become Diocesan of Louisians.

In 1864 our Right Rev. Father in God was called away, by a sudden Providence, from the responsi-bilities of earth to the solemnities of his Maker's

During this interval, the Church in Louisiana. struggling against many embarrassments, was greatly prospered; the number of her clergy mul-tiplied from four resident ministers who joined in the application to the general convention, to thirgreatly prospered; the number of her clergy multiplied from four resident ministers who joined in the application to the general convention, to thirty-two officiating clergymen whose names appear on the records of the last diocean convention in 1861. Organized parishes in union with the convention increased from three to forty in still greater ratio) the confirmed and communicants, and (households) the church (which thus) became (more thoroughly) firmly established in the confidence and respect of the colored population was carefully attended to; many congregations were formed among the servants on the plantations, and numbers, brought under the wholesome discipline of the church and instructed in the Gospel, were annually confirmed and added to her communion All which fruits of grace was witness as to the zeal and evotion of the parochial clergy—so, also, to the faithful overseeing of our late lamented bishop, whose counsels and encouragements were never wanting to sustain the parish ministers in these works of faith and labors of love:

*Resolved, That in the appointment of the general convention in 1841 of the Rt. Rev. Leonidas Polis, D. D., then missonary bishop of the Southwest, to episcopal jurisdiction over the diocess of Louisians, we recognize with gratifude to God the elevation over us of one eminently qualified, in mental endowments and christian graces, to administer the office of a bishop to the glory of God; and particularly adapted by personal and social characteristics to meet the peculiar wants of the church in Louisians.

Resolved. That this convention entertain a deep sense of the value of the serv ces rendered to this diocese during the administration of Bishop Polis, and of his enlightened devotion to the spiritual interests of the flock over which the Holy Ghost had made him overs r. The episopal addresses annually delivered before the conventions bear witness to the abundance of his labors; and while the growth of the church, its general prosperity up to the date of the late unhappy w indicate the prudence and energy of his govern ment.

Resolved, That this convention call to mind, with melancholy satisfaction, the many generous and noble traits of character which distinguished our late beloved Father in God in all his official intercourse with the members of this diocese, and appeared consplouently in all his private and social relations to the clergy and laity of the Church, who long cherish the memory of their departed bishop as an affection father, a gracious counsellor and a sympathisting friend.

bishop as an affection father, a gracious counsellor and a sympathising friend.

Resolved, That in the plan devised for the creation of the "University of the South," and in the measures adopted to secure the permanent endowment of that great enterprise for the religious and intellectual developments of the country, we recognize that broad and comprehensive Ohristian philanthropy, and that enlightened develop to the best interests of the church in the South, which so eminently characterized our late Father in God, in whose mind the noble project had its birth, and by whose untiring energies, in connection with others like-minded in Southern dioceses, it had been well migh brought to a successful achievement when arrested by the unhappy convulsions of the country.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, with a letter by the president of this convention, expressing the Christian sympathics of the oburch in Louisians, be addressed to the afflicted family of our deceased bishop.

The report was received, and the preamble and resolutions were unnimously adopted.

There are projects enough before Congress to employ twice as much of the expected surplus for purposes entirely indispensable at the present time. The forty millions to be obtained from cotton night as well be left in the hands of the cotton-growers, as an encouragement to promote that industry hereafter to a larger extent, and thus afford the means of foreign exchange, and of restoring the specie standard. The Government will be better paid by the cotton produce in that way than by any tax upon it.

New Orleans Market.

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—Corron.—The market opened this morning with a moderate inquiry, but owing to the poor assortment, and the high pretension-of factors for the better qualities, the movement was on a limited scale, and the day's business was confined to 1200 bales, taken by eight brokers at full prices for the better grades. The poorer descriptions, on the contrary, were rather easier. Under the circumstances, however, we do not find it necessary to make any change in our quotations, which we repeat as follows: Oral-nary, 26 to 29c; good ordinary, 30 to 31; low middling. 3; to 34, and mid-sinx 36 to 37. An offer of 780 was refused for a list of strict middling held at higher figures. The sales for the past three days sum up 5800 cales, making a total f.r the week of 9708. The receipts proper for the week (excluding the arrivals from Mobile, Fiorida and Texas, - hich are embraced in their respective statements, comprise 5460 bales, against 5799 last week and 10,888 the week before. Decrease from last week, 339 bales. The week's exports embrace 3512 bales, of which 2821 were to foreign ports and 691 coastwise New Orleans Market. Stock on hand 1st Sept. 1865

Memphis, May 20.—Corron—There was some excitement in the market yesterday, and prices were much better; but the difference in views between buyers and sollers, and the few lots on the market, prevented much being done. We could only hear of 225 bales changing hands during the day. Middling 29c, 30c and 30½c; Low Middling 27@28½c; Good Ordinary 26@27c, 30 bales of Good Middling were sold at 33½c. The New York noon dispatch quoted 36@38c. This news created a good feeling in the market here, but holders manifested but little disposition to sell, being confident of getting better prices. The firmness of the New York market has had a tendency to give a better feeling in the market here. Holders felt buoyant, and advanced from one to two cents over Friday's prices. D. R. E. GOURTARET'S DISINFECTING FLUIDS, Secured by Letters Patent in the United States and France. Prepared solely by the New York Disinfecting Company, at their La oratory, Nos. 298, 500 and 302 richty-street, N. Y. Office, 42 Cedar atrect.

This Company, organized on a permanent basis, with Dr. Courtaret, the celebrated French Chemiet, in charge of its Laboratory, is prepared to furnish its 1 minyrecting Fluids for sick rooms, nurseries, urinals, water closets, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons, and public institutions of all kinds, elaughter-houses, offial and fat-boiling, establishments; all kinds of manures (tamensely increasing the value of the latter to every farmer) and wherever poisonus and offinishe gasses exist. These agents are decdorizers, antisepiles, antispules, antispules, and other by chemical principles—leaving in their places healthful air; they are Destrottans, and not merely selections of poisonous passes—not injurious to utensils in which they are used. The attention of medical and scientific men is directed to these disinfectants. Attached are testimonials in favor of this great discovery, which, with hundreds of others, can be seen at the Company; office.

To the President of the New York Dissipating Company: Dear vir: It is all it is represented to be. We have made many trials of disinfectants, but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others as a roomedy against all bad odors. T. Rousset & Co.

New York, April 9, 1866.

To the President of the New York Dissipating Company: Dear Sir: We pronounce it without exception to be the best we have ever known. Its effect upon every matter is complete and instantaneous.

SP N. B.—These Disinfectants are used by the scavengers under the direction of the Smitary Police of the Metropolitan Health Department, New York.
